The person I liked the most at the assembly is the guy named Jorge because he was talking about all the things he went through that relate to our life stories. The reason why I liked him the best is because he use to do the same things that we have been doing now-a-days, but he changed his life all over. Also because he had went through it all so he knew what he was talking about.

All the things he was talking about just had me thinking about how my life might end up if I keep doing what I be doing every single day "gang banging". I started thinking because I dont want to end up in prison my whole life, I want something better for myself in the future. This is why Jorge was my favorite at the assembly.

← The person who I liked the most was the Mexican girl who had a very hard life. It's messed up how she had to grow up like that. And there's many people out there that still live like that till this day.

← And the guy who talked about AIDS and HIV. That talk kind of scared me. So now I look at girls a lot much different. I'm gonna going to be much more carefull with females and not just be with anytype of girl. Now I am gonna always wear a condom and ^{not} ^{have} ^{sex} have unprotected sex with my wife.

The speaker that I really liked was the one who was comparing making a cake to our lives. I really liked that comparison because it made me think a lot about how I still have a chance to show my family and everyone that didn't think I could do it and show them that I could do it. And even though I have fallen that I can pick myself up and do right in my life and get myself together. And even though I didn't mess up or go through some of the stuff they went through and were talking about made me realize where I was and what I was doing and where it was going to get me and that I didn't want to go where it was going to take me. They showed me that I was better than all of that and that

The speaker that I liked the most Friday at the assembly was preacher Bishop. The reason why I liked him most is because his story touched me most. He told two stories about two gang members. One he took under his wing and showed him different things and took him places that help him realize it's more important things in life than the stuff he was doing and now a few years later he's married and own an hotel company in Las Vegas. The other guy was too into gangs and couldn't nobody talk him nothing. Then one day him and his boss went to rob a bank and got caught and he had a clean record. But all his so called homies told on him and said he played everything and now he's doing 32 years in prison. Preacher Bishop help me realize something too. He helped me realize there's more to life than all the foolishness I was doing. He help me open my eyes to the world and realize we want to be somebody in life. So when I get out im no longer living my life wrong. I'm going to go to my church ask my preacher will he help me stay on the right path. So in a way preacher Bishop change my whole life, and he lives in my city Long Beach so im going to find him and thank him. Because he really changed my life in every way possible. So all I got to say is thank you Mr. Bishop.

The person i liked was Jorge because he made me think about my future and now it's a waste of time being in jail. How we did not know how to live in the free world and fighting for something that aint his and having racialu problems that cost them alot of there time. He made me think of not messing up no more.

He was really good at his speech and he was serious. And i was just having a problem with how he did most of his time in jail. He made my mind of how im done with what i do.

What I got to say about one of the person in the assembly is that I really wanna thank him for what, for talking to all of us and for telling us the truth, and for helping me make better choices about my life. Well I wanna thank all of the poeple that were there because all of the stuff they told us is true. I just want them to know that it really helped. What they told me make me relize that there a whole lot more in life than to be in the streets in a gang and then going to jail. I mean I was already go to change because I got a body on the way, but there talks really taught me and still gave me even more hope.

I hope that later on in life I get to talk to them on the outs and talk to them one on one. So I could thank them personally.

One person that I would like to write about is George. I like what he talked about among the minors. He talked about how he did time in jail. He realized what he could of done with his life. At 36 years old he changed his life. Instead of being in a jail cell doing the same thing for years, he could of been out working moving on with his life like he is now. He will be going to UCLA.

His discussion with the minors seem to make an impact on them. Many of the students would get up and would want to talk to him. His life seemed very interesting to most of us. I could some how compare George with some of us because like most of us were just in and out the system like he was.

Now that I seen what could really happen to most of us we should all try to change our lives before it's too late. If I get a chance to go home I'm NOT coming back to this place. Living this life is not for me \pm rather be in society graduating walking in my ceremony instead of graduating in a school in juvenile hall. I want to continue with my life and accomplish my goals and never see this place ever again.

The person I liked the most at the assembly was the guy who talked about the cake metaphor.

He made me think like, Dam that is true about the cake falling.

IN that we are still baking at 350°. We are not the good cake that is out on the table.

IN that ^{this} just had me thinking about it all day. And, I also told my roommate about it. Oscar my roommate thought the same about it.

But I have a good feeling that I'm going to come out that hot 350° in be a good cake that every one likes. And I learned a lot from all these people that were at the assembly.

Jorge well to start to off to say what I like the most in the assembly was how everyone was talking or speaking the truth well they were getting me to think very much well the one who I liked the most was Jorge ^{or} cause he was almost the same as me. His case was like mine I liked him telling us that jail isn't good for us plus he almost spend the rest of his life in prison.

well also there's something else that I liked is how he changed his life around and that when you really got homies once your in the streets but once your busted they forget about you the only one's that are there are your parents and your family. But he also compared 2 me is what he said about his little sister when she told him if she was going to live them alone again.

now - a - days

Well what I learned is that it's not good to be locked up cause you don't ever see you family grow up they miss you everyday also u just waste all the good times in your young life.

Last Friday some guest speakers came to talk to us. One guy that talked about a metaphor. He used a cake as us in the metaphor. He said, "That you are a 'ingredients.'" And this place I am now is the oven. And it's my choice to come out flat and ugly or beautiful puffy cake. Metaphorically flat and ugly means the once you get out you are the same person as you are when you first got in. And beautiful and puffy means you have changed to a better person.

Another guy named Dante talked about HIV. He said, "a lot of people in the world have HIV. And you never die from HIV or AIDS. You die because HIV and AIDS weakens the immune system. And once you get a fly or another small common cold your immune system is too weak to fight it. That's how you die from HIV. It is a very serious disease. That is what they talked to us about."

THE SPEAKERS ON FRIDAY

CAME TO TALK TO US TO LET US

KNOW ABOUT HIV AIDS, ANOTHER

SPEAKER: TALKED ABOUT ACTIONS,

CHOICES, AND DECISIONS. ONE OTHER

GUY WAS TALKING ABOUT HOW TO MAKE A CAKE, AND HOW TO BAKE ONE.

ALL OF THEM WERE MY FAVORITE

BUT SOME HAD DIFFERENT THINGS

THEY TALKED ABOUT THEY ALL TRIED

TO MAKE SENSE ABOUT THE HIV,

THE CHOICES, DECISIONS, AND THE ACTIONS,

EVEN THE WAY TO MAKE A CAKE.

The reasons I liked the assembly was because they were trying to get some things in our heads, like trying to make a decision and trying to get out of here, and what we were going to do when we get out.

A1 I also liked the part when they talked about their own lives. They said when they were young like us they made mistakes as well.

A2 That was a good thing because it made me realize about my own life, and that it was a little similar to theirs.

But when I get out of here I am going to get my self back together And go back to school. And finish, And after I finish I am going to get in the army because thats all I wanted to do when I was a little kid.

The person that I like the most was the guy that went to jail. He got out and now he is helping other people change their life around. He changed his life around and now he is going to school. He made me realize that it is never too late to change your life around and get things together. He missed out on most of his life because he was locked up. I don't wanna end up like him and miss out on my young years. I wanna be able to see my son grow up. His advice and his experience that he shared with us made me not wanna take life for granted.

The assembly was a great assembly overall because everyone had a great presentation. They all had something different to say and painted different images in my head. I can relate to something that everyone and of presenters said. I have been through some of the same things but in different ways. I've had my own experiences in some of the things and been through a little more. I just don't let the things I been through, make me want to change my life. I still do the same things I do but I also try to stay educated so I can finish school and be something so I can make

What DID I learn from them
When they came to talk to use.
What I learn was that know matter per how many time you come to Jail you can come home in still get a Job and Finish school.

And people will help you if you ask for help because everyone want to see you going good if you are try to.
So now I know when I get out of Jail
I still can do something with my life making good money some were and nice cars to drive and.

So now I know that I could do anything that I want if I try to do it. And ask question so that if I don know something they can help me with something if I need
it. That what I learn.

The HIV Counselor was cool because he taught me some things on how ~~and how not~~ to get HIV. He also taught me ways to prevent myself from the HIV ~~transfusions from blood~~ virus. A person can get it from vaginal secretions, and semen. Another way to get the HIV virus is through breast milk.

← Another thing that caught my attention was that I could catch HIV if I was to ~~cut~~ and get someone's blood into an open cut or into ~~my~~ ^{my} fingertips. A question I wanted ask was that if I was to have oral sex ~~but~~ with a girl ^{pleasing me} ~~was going down on me~~ could I still get affected? Also, if she doesn't have any cuts or ^{blood} ~~anything~~ ^c in her mouth, ~~so~~ ^{this} that was a question I would ^{have} liked to be ~~answered~~ ask?

The person who I liked most Friday at the assembly was the preacher. The reason why I say I liked him the most because his story really touched me because I don't want to end up like the guy who was into gangs and going into to all of us and for telling us the truth, and for helping me make better choices about my life. Well I wanna thank all of the people that were there because all of the stuff they told us is true I just want them to know that they it really helped. What they told me make me realize that there is a whole lot more in life than to be in the streets trying to survive and gangbanging and trying to survive and having to watch my back.
